

The children were nestled
All snug in their beds,
While visions of sugarplums
Danced through their heads;