

Never take someone's belongings without asking first.