

A manatee can spend up to 8 hours a day eating, and usually takes in about 100 pounds of food per day. Manatees use molars to grind their food, and their large lips covered in bristly hairs are used to push food into the mouth. Sometimes, a hungry manatee will hold large quantities of food in its flippers while it is eating.