

The Army Jupiter-C rocket launched the first United States satellite. The gantry crane is used to fuel and service the rocket.