

In Japanese folklore, Oni are ogre-like creatures with two horns, an iron club and a tiger-skin loincloth. On Feb 3rd, Setsubun is celebrated – a spring festival where people throw soybeans and hang holly outside their homes to drive out the oni.