

Europe is the sixth largest continent in the world by area. It includes nearly 50 independent countries including Iceland and the portion of Russia west of the Ural Mountains..