

So they put her in a glass case on a rock on the hillside. One dwarf always stood guard. The birds and beasts of the forest came to weep.