

Slapshot - The hardest shot in ice hockey, a slapshot starts with a wind up and continues with the player violently "slapping" the ice slightly behind the puck. The player uses his weight to bend the stick, storing energy in it like a spring. This bending of the stick gives the slapshot its amazing speed