

There was once a little princess named Snow White. She was white as snow, with cheeks as red as blood, and hair as black as ebony.