

She jumped out of bed, ran down the stairs, and far away home.
And never did she go near the house of the three bears again.