

A trading company in London offered to send the people to the colonies.