

While she was sleeping, the bears came home. They all began to ask at once, "Who's been eating my porridge?"