

At night he would study by light from the fireplace.