

Noah took two animals of each kind into the ark with him and his family. There they were safe until the flood had passed.