

Roberto Enrique Clemente Walker (August 18, 1934 - December 31, 1972) was a Puerto Rican baseball player who played 18 seasons for the Pittsburgh Pirates. Clemente became the first Caribbean and Latin American player inducted posthumously into the Major League Baseball Hall of Fame in 1973.