Merida's mother digs through the ruins of the cottage, hoping to find something to make her human again.

