

ALLIED "BIG THREE" LEADERS. Franklin D. Roosevelt (top) served as President of the United States from 1933 until his death in April 1945. Winston S. Churchill (middle) served as Prime Minister of Great Britain during most of World War II. Joseph Stalin (bottom) was the leader of the Soviet Union. When German troops invaded the Soviet Union in June 1941, these three leaders had a common enemy. After the war, tension between the West and the Soviet bloc resulted in the Cold War.