

Many patriotic manufacturers are joining the fight against air pollution, and the chimneys of their factories and plants no longer pour out black smoke to poison the air we breathe.