

On the second day, God made the sky and the water.