

Blue Jay

The Blue Jay is a common backyard bird in North America. It has a pronounced crest which may be raised or lowered according to its mood. Its plumage is blue in the crest, back, wings and tail, with off-white and black on the underside. The bill is black.

© Birdorable

For the exact

Northern Cardinal

The Northern Cardinal is a common mid-sized songbird across the eastern United States. Males are brilliant red with a black face. The female is mostly grayish-brown with a slight reddish tint on the wings. The bill is red and the feet are a dark pink-brown.

© Birdorable

For the exact colors see: www.birdorable.com