

In order to prove his strong faith in God, he suffered the loss of his children and property and endured extreme pain.