

I love YOU

I'm not going to stand here and say I love you, because personally I don't know if I even know what love feels like. So I'll say that I can't stop thinking about you.

I always feel like I should be holding your hand when I'm walking down a sidewalk.

I keep setting another table place setting in dinner because I don't want to eat without you.

I wake up every morning wondering if you are wondering about me.

I sleep wishing I'm in your dreams tonight. I take an extra 5 minutes in my usual 7 minute prayer to beg God to guide you through the day safely.

I no longer like being left alone. I keep searching for you anywhere possible even though I know you can't be here. So if that's love, so be it.

I'm in love with you totally truly madly
