

Bones are living organs with their own cells and blood supply.