

Andrew Johnson, who was Lincoln's Vice-President, narrowly missed being impeached during the time he held office as President.