

There He entered the temple and cast out the moneychangers and overthrew the tables of the men selling doves.