

Bothwell Castle, Scotland:

Bothwell Castle is a large medieval castle situated on a high steep bank above a bend in the River Clyde in Scotland. Building was started by Walter of Moray some time in the latter half of the 1200s. It changed hands many times during the Wars of Scottish Independence between England and Scotland.