

American Goldfinch

- Also called the Wild Canary.
- The main diet of the American Goldfinch consists of seeds. They are easily attracted to bird feeders.
- Each year the female American Goldfinch lays a clutch of 4-6 bluish-white eggs that are roughly the size of peanuts.
- Adopted as Washington's state bird in 1951.