

The country was divided over the slavery issue when Abraham Lincoln was elected President in 1861.