

The children sat on rough benches before the fire and studied their lessons.