

The early Bible people wore clothes very different from ours. The fields, where Ruth gleaned, were brightened by the reds, yellows, and blues of the women's headdresses.