

She told him, and he started to walk along with her. But she went so slowly that he was soon far ahead. In fact, he ran all the way to grandmother's house and there he knocked on the door.