

There was great feasting and rejoicing when the Prince brought Snow White home. And with much celebration they were married and lived happily ever afterward.