

Pacific Dogwood

- The pacific dogwood is a tree that can grow up to 25 feet tall.
- it blooms April to June and sometimes again in September.
- usually grows near streams in the Western part of the province.
- made the provincial flower of British Columbia in 1956.