

Traditional folklore says if the sun shines on Groundhog Day in Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania, causing the groundhog to see his shadow when he emerges, six more weeks of winter will follow.